Vision and Goals, moving forward

The Trustees have strong alignment regarding their vision and goals moving forward. They would like to:

- Trustees would like the ability to expand the distribution to beneficiaries in different but just as useful forms, ultimately creating higher distributions overall.

Increase the Trust's profile in the community:

- The Trustees would like to increase the visibility and profile of the Trust in the King Country area, to be recognised as an important contributor to the economic and social well-being of our community.
- Trustees would like to be known by the public and have more community engagement.
- Develop Investment Relationships with KCE and potential new partners.
- Trustees would like to strengthen relationships with investors for growth - work with others on the same trajectory - and increase the value of our investment portfolio.

Board of Trustees approach

Trustees take a team approach and try to achieve decisions by consensus. They respect and encourage each other and rely on individual expertise in decision-making. Campaigning

Key message

Election campaigning can commence anytime and may continue up to and including election day. However, there are certain constraints candidates need to be aware of.

The display of election signs and hoardings is governed by the relevant Council policy and bylaws.

Candidates planning to display election signs on public property are encouraged to check the bylaws and approved signs sites with the relevant district council.

Election advertising, using any media, must identify:

- the true name of the person under whose authority they have been produced and
- the physical address (not a PO Box) of the person under whose authority they have been produced. [Section 113, Local Electoral Act 2001]

Campaigning

No election material may contain an imitation voting document which has the names of the candidates with any direction or indication as to the candidate a person should vote for, or in any way contains such direction or indication likely to influence the voter.

Voting documents should not be collected from electors by candidates or their assistants. Each consumer should post or deliver his or her own voting document to the returning officer. This also applies to resthomes and hospitals - voting documents should not be collected from elderly or infirm electors by candidates or their assistants.

Candidates should be aware that it is an offence (carrying a fine of up to $5,000, if convicted) to interfere in any way with an elector with the intention of influencing or advising that elector as to how he or she should vote.

Candidates and their assistants should be mindful of this particularly if campaigning occurs in rest homes or hospitals.

Election signs and hoardings

Election signs can be referred to as hoardings, posters, signs or other similar types of promotion that are used to display information relating to the election of a candidate(s) or choice of political party or promotions of issues relating to a referendum.

The display of election signs and hoardings is governed by the relevant Council policy and bylaws.

Election signs are to display the true name and physical address (place of residence or business) of the person authorising them.

Election signs are permitted on private property (with the owner's consent).

Social Media

If a candidate uses a social media account to promote the candidate's election, the candidates should include an authorising statement on the account's main page (or profile page), confirming that the account has been authorised by the candidate.

Should a candidate not set up a separate account for election purposes but uses their personal social media account for electioneering, a candidate should place an authorising statement on the account's main page for the duration of the time that the account is used for electioneering.

It is not necessary to authorise each individual post or tweet.

It is not necessary to authorise likes, comments, replies, shares, retweets etc.

Results

Processing of returned voting documents

As completed votes are received by the Returning Officer throughout the voting period, a scrutiny of the Roll (marking those consumers names off the Roll who have returned a vote) will be undertaken.

The King Country Trust Deed of Trust does not allow for any voting documents to be opened until the day after the close of voting.

Accordingly, the processing and official count of votes will take place from 9am at the offices of Independent Election Services Ltd (Level 2, 198 Federal Street, Auckland) on Thursday 24 February 2022.

Any candidate for election is entitled to appoint a representative to attend the official count. Such appointment must be received in writing by the Returning Officer by 12 noon, Tuesday 22 February 2022 (the day before the close of voting).

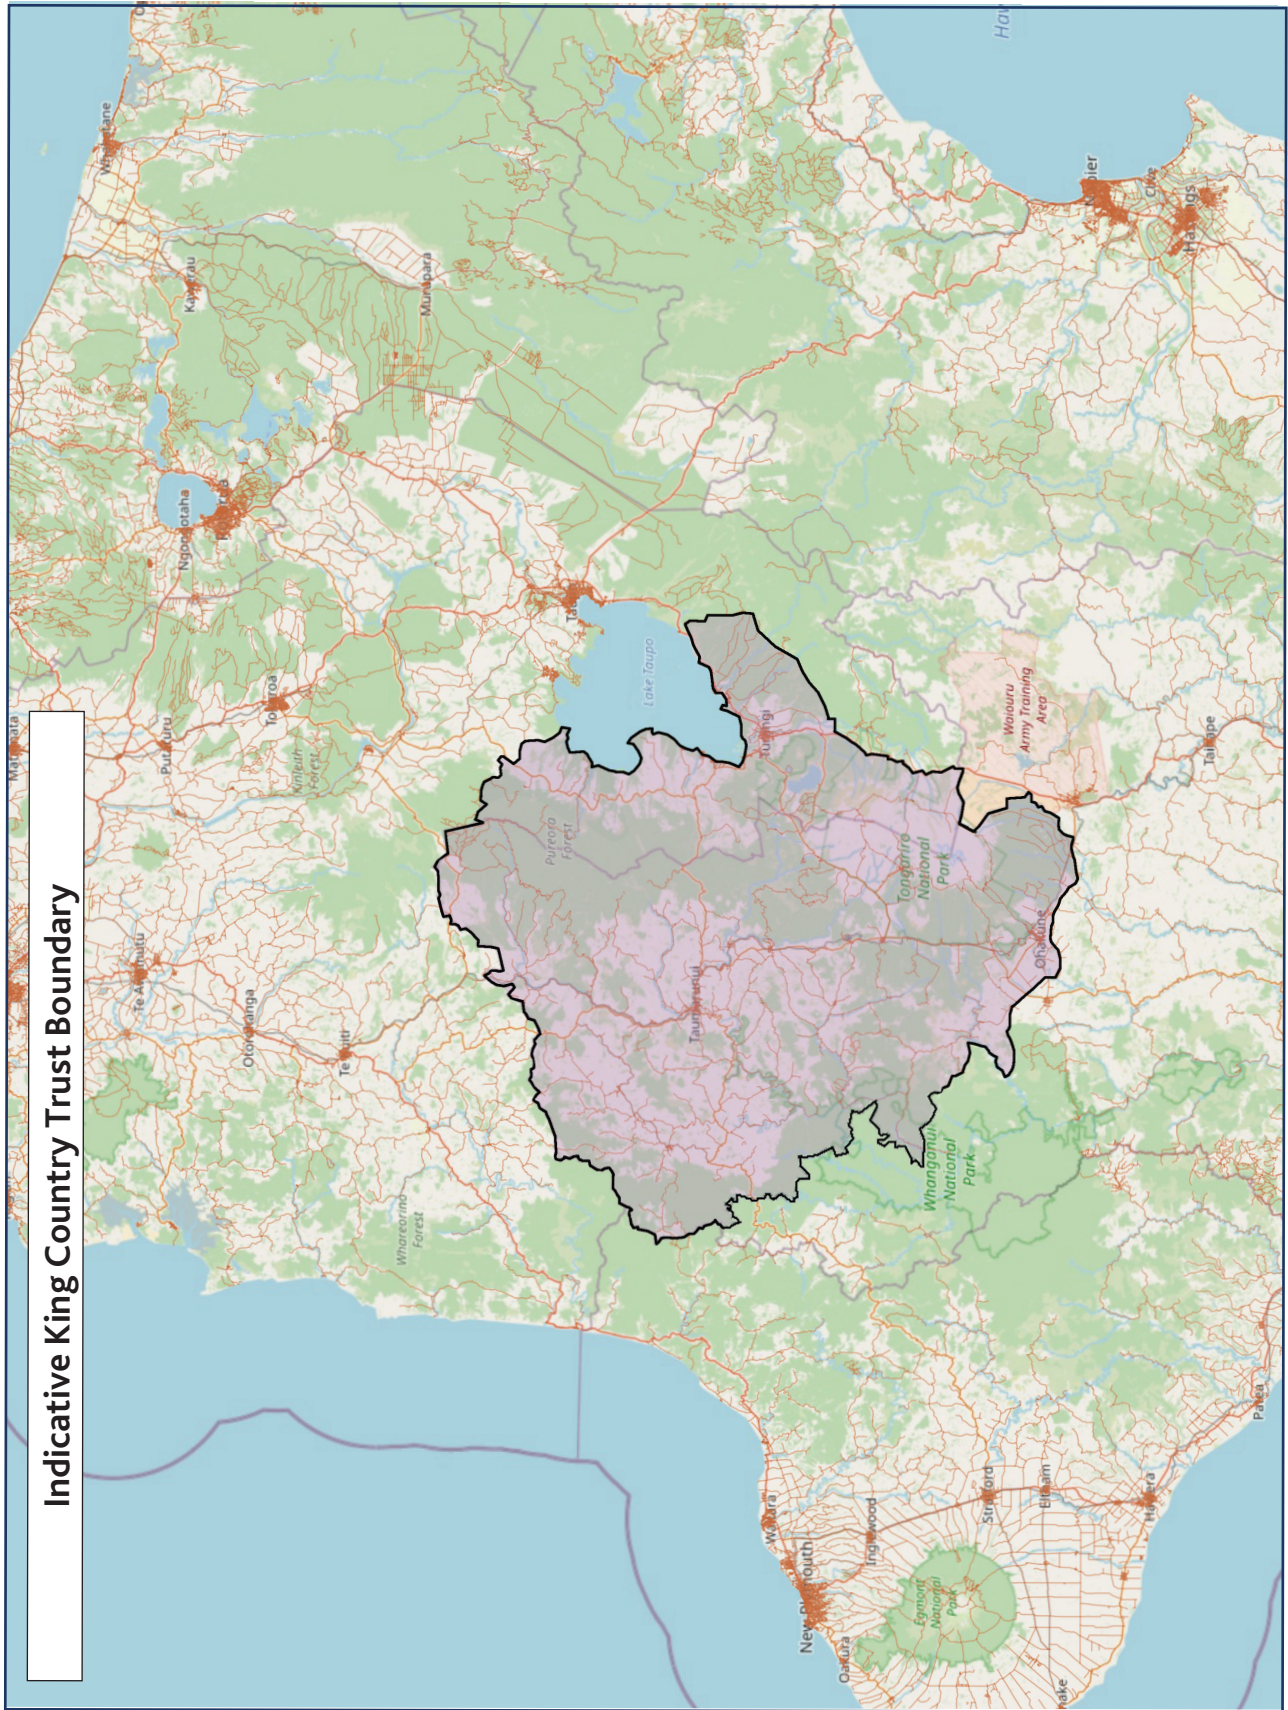

Results

Once the counting of votes has occurred, the results will be forwarded to the Secretary of the King Country Trust, and candidates will subsequently be advised.

It is anticipated that results will be available at approximately 12 noon on Thursday 24 February 2022.

A public notice (declaration of results) will appear in newspapers from Wednesday 2 March 2022.
